

Jennifer Champion is an academic based at Te Piringa-Faculty of Law at the University of Waikato. Prior to becoming an academic in 2018, Jennifer served as a law librarian at the University of Waikato, so she has a good insight into the concerns of both academic and general staff. Prior to being employed in a tertiary environment, Jennifer was employed in legal private practice as a litigation lawyer. Jennifer has served on the TEU Waikato University branch committee since 2015, and been active in the committee's activities. Jennifer would bring to the role legal experience and a good understanding of the challenges members face in the current tertiary sector environment.
